THE SPECIAL TERM OPEN

Judge Stanley Sitting Today in Place of Justice Perry.

Collector William Haywood Petitions for License to Practice Law—Naturalization Petitions This Afternoon.

The June term of the Supreme Court ended by limitation yesterday. A special term opened this morning.

Chief Justice Frear and Justice Galbraith took their seats at 10:25. There was a waiting crowd of attorneys.

The Chief Justice announced that Justice Perry would be unable to sit during the term. He said it would be unnecessary to call the calendar, as that had been done in the regular term. If counsel in Cartwright vs. Iauken, in which a preliminary hearing took place yesterday, were ready to proceed that would be the first case heard.

Mr. Chillingworth moved a case added to the calendar.

Mr. Neumann presented the petition of William Haywood to be admitted to practice law in this Territory. The applicant is the Collector of Internal Revenue.

The Chief Justice, in answer to Mr. Robertson, stated that petitions for naturalization would be heard at 1:30. Judge Stanley is sitting in place of Justice Perry at the hearing of B. Cartwright and others vs. C. K. Iauken and others. Kinney, Ballou & McClanahan for plaintiffs; Dickey and Whiting for defendants.

Shipwrecked Sailors.

The sailors of the bark McNear, wrecked on Laysan Island still find themselves in a decidedly shipwrecked condition though rescued from death on Dowsett reef. The ten men of the crew lost everything in the wreck and arrived in Honolulu destitute. They are all members of the Seamen's Union, but there is no representative here to look after them. The agents of the vessel do not consider themselves responsible for the men, and the manager of the Sailors' Home can't care for them as he knows of no source to draw money for their support.

FOURTH OF JULY.

A great number of Hawaiian and American flags can be gotten in Twan-mi's store, Hotel street.

GRAVEL FLIES ALL ROUND

Seven Gangs Out—On Honolulu Road Work.

Two Hundred and Fifty Free Laborers and Seventy Five Convicts Make Up Road Supervisor's Army.

Seven big gangs of men are at work on the streets and roads of Honolulu and environs. Road Supervisor Marshall Campbell may therefore be well believed to have his eyes fully occupied. The gangs are employed as follows: On the west Manoa road. Repairing Mount Tantalus road. Widening of King street through Palama.

Filling up Kukui between Nuuanu and River streets.

Making the Vineyard street extension from River to Liliha street.

Extending Bergtalia street to join King street at Lele.

On Houghtaling lane from King street, Palama, toward the sea.

Altogether there are 250 laborers employed on these works, besides about 75 convicts.

BOXER PLACARDS.

Following is a translation of some of the Boxer placards posted in China cities:

Our Emperor is about to become powerful.

The leader of the "Boxers" is a royal person.

Within three months all foreigners will be killed and driven away from China.

During forty years the Empire has become full of foreigners.

They have divided the land.

The Kwo-wen-pao (Chinese newspaper) always talk nonsense about the "Boxers" since it is under the protection of Japan.

We remind the editors that hereafter they must not talk nonsense; if they continue to do so their building will be burnt.

The Brethren need not fear.

There are 100,000 (T. E. G. A.) in the North.

When the foreigners are driven away.

We will return to our hills!

On Tuesday afternoon another placard was seen on a wall of a compound in the Extra-Concession which stated that 800 spiritual soldiers would descend on the 13th of this moon, i. e., 9th inst., for the destruction of foreigners. These, together with the red-daubing which is still in vogue, show that nothing is left undone in the way of keeping the populace well up to the mark.

Police Court Notes.

In the Police Court this forenoon the following cases were disposed of: Tom Yau, obstructing and perverting justice, $10 and costs; Ottiman, selling liquor without a license, $100 and costs; Ah Sing, unlawful possession of opium, $50 and costs; Saki, riding a bicycle without a light, bail forfeited.

An Insane Native.

Kaona, a native, was arrested in Kaaka today and it is probable that he will be sent to the Insane Asylum this afternoon. Kaona believes he is the son of Christ and that he has been with the Lord constantly for two years past.

The process of fireproofing wood very much resembles embalming. The wood is first relieved of its saps and juices, which are really its blood, and a preservative fluid is injected to take their place. The planks to be fireproofed are put into a sort of boiler or digester. This is closed, and steam at a low pressure is run into the digester, and the wood parboiled for from one to fifty hours. This is to soften or loosen the dry saps and juices from the wood, leaving a finely divided cellular structure. Next the fireproofing solution is pumped into the chamber, the absorption and saturation being assisted by the partial vacuum. A pressure of from 80 to 200 pounds a square inch is next applied and maintained until the absorption is complete. After draining off the excess solution the wood is withdrawn and thoroughly dried in a kiln, with the result that the interior cellular wood structure is left filled with minute crystals of fireproofing salts.

Spreckelsville's Greatness Is Not An Idle Dream

Stockholders of the Hawaiian Commercial received by recent mail from the Coast the annual reports of the management of this immense sugar property. A very complete review of the year's work is given, showing a year of prosperity and promise of future growth on the grandest scale ever known to Hawaii.

Manager Lowrie's report that an 18,000 ton crop will be secured notwithstanding a cane fire that caused a loss of about 1000 tons. For the 1901 crop there is a total of 4004 acres under cultivation which promises a 27,000 ton crop. For 1902 a total of 5,500 acres with a 42,000 to 45,000 ton crop is promised. Speaking of labor troubles, the manager says: "Just at present, you know, we are passing through a critical period, when no one can tell what will be the outcome of the labor troubles; but no doubt it will be adjusted in a short time and my own opinion is that we will be on a better footing, than we have been in years, that is, after the changed conditions have been adjusted and I, for one, think we can raise more sugar without contract labor and with less trouble than we ever did with it."

In this connection an extensive report on profit sharing is given with the following comment:

"This system of profit sharing has been in vogue on Ewa plantation for several years and has given very good satisfaction, so far. At Spreckelsville we are very well satisfied with the results and feel that it will be a wonderful help to us, now that we are about to change the whole labor system, as by this method become directly interested in the fields; they take better care of them; there is far less danger of fire and scarcely any from strikes. The results, too, will improve as time goes on, because the laborers will get more familiar with it and will become more permanent on the plantation than under the old system."

On March 20th we had a very serious fire in our cane, as you already know. We had been intending for several days to burn off the leaves from that portion of field 'C' which had been cut. On this morning the fire was started, as usual, very early in the morning, (before 5 o'clock) but the wind came up very strong after the fire was lighted. The first thing, on going out that morning, I went to the fields. The fire had already been started and was burning some time when I got there. I was very much worried on account of the high winds, but the only thing to do then was to follow up the fire, which we did, and when I left to come home to breakfast, about 5 o'clock, we had burned back for several hundred feet from the other cane, so far, in fact, that

ATTORNEY GENERAL CHECKED.

In arguing the Edwards case for the Government yesterday, Attorney General E. P. Dole undertook to urge Justice Galbraith and Judge Humphreys by name to investigate the points thoroughly, recommending them to study his brief with care. His omission of Chief Justice Frear from this fatherly counsel was probably on the presumption that this jurist, from his previous holding of a seat on the bench, was already familiar with the case.

Judge Humphreys broke into the Attorney General's remarks, with a stern rebuke. He said in effect: "This court is not in need of advice as to its performance of duty. Your remarks are highly improper. Besides, you cannot address individual members of this court by name. This is the Supreme Court of the Territory of Hawaii and must be addressed as a body."

Mr. Dole begged pardon for his offending, and that ended it.

"Captain Swift" Tonight.

"Captain Swift," a famous drama written by C. Haddon Chambers, will be given by Mr. Neill and his company at the Opera House this evening. The play is one in which Mr. Neill has appeared more than 3,000 times. It is quite a universal favorite with all members of the Neill company. The story of the play is a highly interesting one and one that leaves a very lasting impression. The principal character is an Australian bushranger. After the Neill engagement there will be no more other companies here for many months.

The only matinee of the Neill company will be given Saturday, when popular prices will prevail. The play upon that occasion will be "A Bachelor's Romance." Saturday evening "A Golden Pond" will be given.

A complete new stock of men's shirts, collars and cuffs at L. B. Kerr's, Queen street.

I felt perfectly safe, never for a moment thinking that anything could happen to cause danger. After breakfast I went down to the mills and to the office and then came back to the house; between 9:30 and 10 o'clock the locomotive whistle blew the fire signal and I immediately got on my horse and got to the fire, but the wind was blowing such a gale at the time and the laborers became so frightened, that it was utterly impossible to rally them and the result you know.

"I do not consider that anyone was to blame for this fire at all. It had burned from 5 o'clock to almost 10 before the fire was discovered in the adjoining field, and the distance burned over was fully 3/4 of a mile, that is to say the fire burned back 3/4 of a mile from the other field, and the only possible way it could happen was by a whirlwind which came and took a piece of dry cane or some piece of an old irrigating box up in the air and dropped it in an adjoining field. We had thought at that time that perhaps it was done by smoking, but I do not think there is any danger of that. However, we went to work and laid tracks over to the Pala mill and they also laid tracks through our fields and it was but a short time before the Pala folk were working on the cane. Then we did the same thing with Hamakua and they succeeded in grinding some of the cane before it became sour. We managed to grind every stick of cane, but of course towards the last the losses were very heavy.

"I regret this accident exceedingly, as we did have some fine cane and I am pretty certain that if we had succeeded in taking off the crop without any accident that the results would have surprised you all."

Closing his report Manager Lowrie makes the following interesting predictions:

It is no idle dream when I say this place can produce 30,000 tons of sugar. The lands here are good and the conditions for raising sugar are good, excepting the high winds and they are really not so much of a detriment as they are disagreeable.

This estate I consider the finest piece of property in the country without exception. It will never produce the sugar per acre that Ewa plantation produces but it will produce more sugar than Ewa or any other plantation, and if we live to see the third crop after this taken off it will reach 50,000 tons, providing the labor is to be had in the country to do the work. The water supply I am sure we will have; the land we have got; all the other facilities are here. All it requires to make a 50,000 ton place of Spreckelsville is the labor, and depend upon it, this will be forthcoming in the proper time.

THERE WILL BE LIGHT.

C. W. Macfarlane, manager of the Washington Light Company, has just received a large invoice of the company's new light, the Transcendent Light, which is the cheapest and best illuminant that has ever been put on the market. The company has secured all the recent patents which combine to make the lights now offered to the people equal in candle power to any light created. The best feature is that a magnificent illumination can be secured at the smallest expense. Mr. Macfarlane has a large corps of workmen at his command and can fill orders for permanent or temporary lights "while you wait." A specialty will be made of lighting lancers and grounds for luau and evening entertainments. Don't spend money on lights until you see Macfarlane.

New Residence Tract.

The Palolo Land and Improvement Co. has placed on sale a tract of 150 acres on the heights above the Waiwae road. There is no place in the vicinity of Honolulu which can excel this site either in its magnificent view or the healthfulness of situation. It commands a view from Koko Head to the Waiwae mountains. This is an exceptional opportunity for the investment of capital in the opening up and developing of a residence tract.

Insurance Cases.

Wong Chow vs. the German Alliance Insurance Co. et al., and Yee Wo Chan & Co. vs. the Insurance Company of North America are cases that have just been filed in the Circuit Court. These are in connection with losses incident to the big Chinatown fire of January 29.

Mrs. Geo. C. Beckley and children leave for San Francisco in the Ancker on this afternoon. Mrs. Beckley expects to be gone about a year. The children will be put to school before her return.

DEATH OF JAMES L. KING

One of Maui's Oldest Respected Citizens Passes Away.

Native of Massachusetts and Fifty Years Resident of the Islands—Wealth Represented by Many Friends.

Wailuku, July 9.—James L. King, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of Wailuku died at his daughter's home at Wailuku last Saturday morning. The cause of his death was obstruction of the bowels.

James L. King was born at Springfield, Mass., April 7, 1822, and was therefore exactly 78 years and 3 months of age. His first trip to the Hawaiian Islands was in 1848 in a whale ship, and four years later, in 1852, he again arrived in the Islands and settled at Wailuku, Hawaii, where he married his first wife by whom he had two daughters, one Miss Sarah King, now living in California, and the other now dead, was the mother of Chas. E. King of Kamehameha school. On the death of his first wife, he married for his second wife the mother of Hon. Samuel Parker of Maui, Hawaii, with whom he had two children, viz.: Wm. H. King, deputy sheriff of Makawao, and Mrs. Thos. Cummings, wife of the head lama of the Wailuku section of the Wailuku plantation. Besides three children now living, the deceased left a very large number of grandchildren. Mr. King did not leave any issue with his third and last wife, by whose side he was laid to rest at Iao cemetery last Saturday afternoon.

The late Mr. King was a hard worker, and even at his advanced age, nothing could have induced him to remain away from his carpenter shop on Main street, Wailuku, where he had carried on a wheelwright and carpenter business for many years past. The deceased was always of a happy and cheerful disposition, being most happy in the company of his grandchildren. Although he had lived in the Islands—on Hawaii, Oahu and Maui for nearly fifty years, he had never acquired wealth of any magnitude, being always unlucky in business speculations. But worldly affairs did not worry him much, and his happy disposition remained with him until death has removed him. Rev. Wm. Ault came over from Lahaina to conduct the funeral services last Saturday afternoon. Services were held both in the Anglican church and also at the grave. A posse of Wailuku police in uniform acted as pall bearers. The funeral procession from the church to the graveyard was very largely attended.

Hilo Is Pleased.

The Hilo Tribune says: The many Hilo friends of "Jimmie" Boyd learn with pleasure of his appointment to the chief office in the Interior Department. Mr. Boyd is thoroughly familiar with this branch of the Territory's governmental business, and for many years under the monarchy, the Provisional government and the Republic, in subordinate positions, has given the highest satisfaction to his official superior and the public. Of late he has been the practical head of this bureau, and his actual appointment to it is but a just recognition of his services. Hilo may expect to benefit by the change.

Ready to Build Ships.

Washington, June 24.—Now that the Navy Department has reached a decision as to superintending turkeys it is expected that a circular calling for proposals for building battleships and cruisers will be issued within the present week. The law requires these ships to be sheathed, but it is understood that the opponents on the board of construction of the sheathing process calculate that there will be ample time to amend the plans by authorization to be secured at the next session of Congress before the builders will have advanced the hulls very far.

Pirri To Insane Asylum.

Antone Pirri, the strong man, was arrested in Emma Square by Captain Fox of the Mounted Patrol last night. Pirri, provided with an improvised lantern, was searching about in Emma Square for work. At intervals he would raise his light and peer into the faces of people. Pirri came from Hilo in the last Kinau. In the Rainy City, he caused so much fear by his peculiar actions that he was told to return to Honolulu.

Dr. Emerson examined the man this morning and found him to be completely insane. He explained that he had carried a revolver and a knife with him because a large number of enemies were constantly upon his track. He could take care of four enemies with his fists but he couldn't manage any more than that without a revolver and a dagger.

Judge Wilcox has signed the papers committing Pirri to the Insane Asylum and thence he will be taken to day under a strong escort.

A movement against spiritualism has been started in Germany by the court preacher, Stoecker, the great Christian social reformer. It is said there are no less than 600 mediums in Berlin, the most of whom are bodily defective. They carry on frauds and humbugs in the name of ghosts. They are reported to have 60,000 followers in that city; who show great variety of character. Some are serious; some seek spirits for sport; some let weak nerves lead them to seances and visions; while most regard spiritualism as a new way of calling up the dead to teach the living.—Interior.

Public lands will be sold July 28th. See notice under By Authority.
